Kill the Sun

Forbidden Seed

Sometimes at night my dream grow strong
A past still dwells inside me
In my own realm you can seek a fire

That always burns
With sins from another lifetime

Sometimes you seek a promise land
A place of peace and silence
A kingdom where kings buried their swords
Laid them to rest
They conquered the primordial demon

Mirrors of wisdom, eyes of time
To you i crave for the way
To lift my curse, bury the pain
Awakened by spirits of a darker world

I'm filled up with hate
Eaten by my own rage
Nothing will stand in my way
There is the devil to pay

Divide the earth, the moon, the sun
The time is near
Here comes the fallen
From the early cursed dawn
From unholy flames i was born

Kill the sun
All that remains
Kill the sun
Blind you will find your way

Sometimes is strange how the cloud's shape
From the wind twists and changes
Just like a rainbow that has left
All of his colours be determined
Just by blind fate

Just like my own unwilling fate
For years now twist and turned my existence
From between two worlds
Inside my soul
The angel and the demon is yearning

Descended shadows from within
Above my head now are howling
They whelm the night with ash and smoke
The past still hunts
My present life and leads me

I'm filled up with hate
Eaten by my own rage
Nothing will stand in my way
There is the devil to pay

Divide the earth, the moon, the sun
The time is near
Here comes the fallen
From the early cursed dawn
From unholy flames i was born

Kill the sun
All that remains
Kill the sun
Blind you will find your way
