

Wearing Thin

Jabudah

This is the last time I'll try to reach you
And my guess is that you'll just ignore it
    Just ignore me
    Without a passing glance
    Without the slightest sigh
    Without moving your hands
    Without the softest cry
    If I'd say
    Go your own way, I'll be with you
    Make mistakes and I'll forgive you
    Home is waiting here for you when you return
    Rain reveals your foundation
    And this one's wearing thin
        And shifting in the sand
    And the water does its damage
    With its endless beating pulse
        Heralding the end
    Without a passing glance
    Without the slightest sigh
    Without moving your hands
    Without the softest cry
    If I'd say
    Go your own way, I'll be with you
    Make mistakes and I'll forgive you
    Home is waiting here for you when you return
    This is the last time I will try to reach you
        Try to reach you
    And my guess is that you'll just ignore it
        Just ignore me
    Go your own way, I'll be with you
    Make mistakes and I'll forgive you
    Home is waiting here for you when you return
