

That's Just Me

No Doubt

You think that I will change
But you know that will never be
I'm just that way and that's just me
Well it's just the way I am
And I am doing all I can
Why can't you see I just can't change
Well I could care less what you see
I'm just never the less here for me
You're always getting what you want
But you still keep looking
I guess you're just never getting what you need
With your eyes wide open
You still keep looking for your dreams, that's just me
It doesn't matter what you say
'Cause my confidence will lead the way
Words will never do, sad but true
And if I didn't act this way
Well it just wouldn't be the same
That wouldn't do 'cause I'm not you, I'm not you, no
Well I could care less what you see
I'm just never the less here for me
You're always getting what you want
But you still keep looking
I guess you just never getting what you need

With your eyes wide open
You still keep looking for your dreams, that's just me
With your eyes wide open
You still keep looking for your dreams, that's just me
That's just me, that's just me
That's just the way I am, I am no Larry or a Sam
Why can't you see I'm just that way
Well there it is, it's right here, so crystal clear
Well there it is, it's right here, so crystal clear in front of my face
You're always getting what you want
But you still keep looking
I guess you just never getting what you need
With your eyes wide open you still keep looking
With your eyes wide open you still keep looking

With your eyes wide open
You still keep looking for your dreams, that's just me
You're always getting what you want
But you're never getting what you need, you want it
I guess you just but you're never the less
Still looking for your dreams, your dreams
You're looking for your dreams
You're looking for your dreams, dreams
I could care less what you see
