Dedication

Asking Alexandria

You'll never really find those perfect words.
Something more than just 'Goodbye.'
It's hard to remember the good times when there's just so much heartache,
But they deserve more than that.
They deserve more than just one single moment of sadness.

So just remember that when there's enough love in our hearts it burns like a fucking supernova
And there sure as hell is enough love in our heart to smile that famous smile
We all lose someone at some point in our lives,
But don't ever let go of that smile.
Hold on forever.
Because that's our final dedication.
