Killing Fields

Funker Vogt

every little step you take every little move you make they're watching you they're watching you without respect for your lifeEverywhere are microphones they listen all day and night to every tiny word you speak in your very little worldso you better speak a word keep the silence in your heart no more shoutings anywere until they leave youevery little step you take
every little move you make
they're watching you they're watching you without respect for your life

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/