

Reborn

Damnation Angels

The world is slowly caving in as my darkness grows within These walls are sanctuary for me
I know that others would rather dieThey will not let me be alone and for them I gave my soul
And somehow I feel I am reborn
I've been rebornI've paid the price for my own mistakes
But am I born into a fate I can't change
This pain of life that never seems to end
And I wonder whyThere's something not quite right in me
I ask why the world was so cruel to me
And just like the darkness surrounds my soul
I wake to the feeling I've been here beforeYou ask me why I have faith in God
And became my own worst fear
You live in a world where no one seems to care
Let me take you thereThere's something not quite right in me
I ask why the world was so cruel to me
And just like the darkness surrounds my soul
I wake to the feeling I've been here before Am I living this life once more
This pain of life that never seems to endI can't change what's become of me
I can only wish for what might have been
I pray for the day I finally die
Until then I will wonder whyThere's something not quite right in me
I ask why the world was so cruel to me
And just like the darkness surrounds my soul
I wake to the feeling I've been here beforeThere's something not quite right in me
I ask why the world was so cruel to me
And just like the darkness surrounds my soul
I wake to the feeling I've been rebornI have been reborn

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>