Wrong Enough to Know

Clay Walker

Like any man it's hard for me to admit it
All the dead end road that I've been down
It took you for me to finally get it
You don't know you're lost until you're foundLike a river bends to find the ocean
Every wrong turn led me straight to you
You're the right one, baby and I ain't letting go
Believe me, I've been wrong enough to knowToo many times I have neglected
The sovereign truth starting me in the face
I have denied and rejected an honest touch
An amazing graceLike a river bends to find the ocean
Every wrong turn led me straight to you
You're the right one, baby and I ain't letting go
Believe me, I've been wrong enough to knowYou're the right one, baby and I ain't letting go
Believe me, I've been wrong enough to know
Baby, believe me, I've been wrong enough to know