36 Crazyfists

Over mountains I feel safe,
Sacred were those summers.

And these memories I place in my heart for shelter.

And I modify, just to smell the ocean.

And I underline, visualizing motion. And I guess I miss my home,
I could not stay.

I'll return, it's alright, I'm ok. Reoccured daydream, tie up stern first.
And these gifts I've learned, never leave me.

And I redesign, family and growing.

And I realign, forgetting nothing. Maybe in a few years it'll come back to you,
Reflection becoming your virtue.

So sort me out, lay me away.

Over these mountains I feel safe.

And bless the sound, return the day.

Over these mountains I feel safe.
