

Pick Up the Pieces

Rick Nelson

You broke my heart in a million pieces
I haven't been quite the same since then
And we pick up the pieces, put them together
And start all over again You went away and my whole world crumbled
All of my dreams were just torn apart
And we pick up the pieces, put them together
And try to make a brand new start What good are my arms
They don't hold you like they used to hold you tight
What good are my lips
They don't kiss you day and night Broke my heart in a million pieces
But it can't be mended just like new
Won't you pick up the pieces, put them together
And love me like I love you
