

No More Words (Jeff Hardy)

Endeverafter

I got a sharp stick, I keep in my pocket

I speak volumes never utter a word

When you strike a match, a fire will happen

But the line between the smoke and the flames gets burned
Don't you see the writing on the wall
(Don't you see the writing on the wall)

You're in way over your head

You're gonna drown in the things that you said
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

Words are cheap, but lies are big to take
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

And all your words are too big to take
It's a paradox, A mystery, A riddle

A door in your face and only I have the key

Do understand, you'll be caught in the middle

Caught in a web by being spun by me
Don't you see the writing on the wall
(Don't you see the writing on the wall)

Your just a victim of your own conceit

The architect of your own defeat
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

Words are cheap, but lies are big to take
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

And all your words are too big to take
Never walk away from a fight that's worth fighting

Never hesitate when you know you're gonna act

Never waste your words on a fool you won't listen

Never sell your soul cause I'll never buy it
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

Words are cheap, but lies are big to take
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

And all your words are too big to take
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

Words are cheap, but lies are big to take
Time has come and gone for words

A thousands threats I've heard before

And all your words are too big to take
