

The End Complete V: On the Brink

Coheed and Cambria

The worlds have now learned of the worst yet to come
On the brink of an end, a boy learns to run.
How you love, or could you, mr. Man-of-the-Year?
Walking tall with nothing to fear. Don't pass up this chance,
Go tear down the walls.
No Gods will be watching,
No one cares enough at all.
These words need now an ending,
As they did at the start.
But I'll keep on pretending I won't go. Don't cry no more, boy.
You've got the other side of your life, so enjoy.
I'll move out the front door, and take out your trash
But I'll no longer be haunting here, I'm not coming back.
The road must know my story...
So long, Amory.
Please drive me home one last time.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>