Velvet Morning

delofamilia

Yes, it's been long
And yes, I still feel strong
Into the half light
Another velvet morning for me, yeahTime, stands still
As you take, your last pill
Into the half light
Another velvet morning for me, yeahAnd now I'm trying to tell you
About my life and my tongue is twisted
And more dead than alive and my feelings
They've always been betrayed
And I was born a little damaged man
And look what they made
I said "Don't you find that it's lonely"
The corridor you walk there alone
And life is a game you've tried
And life is a game you're tiredYes, I'm coming down
Your beauty is a color surround
Into the half light
Another velvet morning for me, yeahAnd now I'm trying to tell you
About my life and my tongue is twisted
And more dead than alive and my feelings
My feelings, they've been betrayed
And I was born a little damaged man
And look what they made
He said "Don't you find that it's lonely"
The corridor you walk there alone
And life is a game you've tried
And life is a game you're tired
And life is a game you've tried

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/