Breakin' Down

Tasting Grace

What was it you once said,
That there would be things in life that couldn't be.
Not for a second did I, believe you.
Not for a minute did, I believe that.

Within your need, you lie alone.
This empty space, you call, your home.

If you just let me in,
I wouldn't let you break down.
'Cause I'm breakin' down.

As if you thought the rain could wash away the day,
And could heal you.
Not for a second did I, believe it.
Not for a minute did, I believe that.

Within your need, you lie alone.
This empty space, you call, your home.

If you just let me in,
I wouldn't let you break down.
'Cause I'm breakin' down.

If you just let me in,
I wouldn't let you break down.
'Cause I'm breakin' down.

What was it you once said,
That there would be things in life, that couldn't be.
Not for a second did I, believe you.
Not for a minute did I, believe that.

If you just let me in,
I wouldn't let you break down.
'Cause I'm breakin' down.

If you just let me in,
I wouldn't let you break down.
'Cause I'm breakin' down.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/