Another Sign To Stay Away

This Rigid Empire

Cut my hands with blades
Can you feel the pain?
As it burns inside and
Everyday you're reminded of the time

You screamed and all this hate
Was piling around you
Piling around you as it grew

And we were blind
Disaster Signs
Glowing in the light of
What was left and every time you tried

Could the sun get any brighter?
Will it always be the same (I hope it will)
And your lips and the photographs remind us of this hate
Another sign to stay away

And now we're losing
Our last resort
Preceded by the
Only thing that ever made you tick

And now we're falling
After billboards and the
Posters of
The awful conformity
Of this world

And now we're killing and
We're dying and
It's all so messed up
How the highways have no street signs
But would you ever eat a cow that was loved?
