Oceans Away

Chasing Victory

Meet me at the shore or should it be half way
I've got a feeling I'll wake the dead tonight
And they're headed right this wayI'll write it on the walls
A map of where to go when the seas is turning
Oh yeah, it's turning, you better believe it's turningI will build a ship that will never sink as long as I'm alive
When I see the sails I'll come running to you
And we'll kiss for the very first timeSo come back home I'll fall into your arms
The plans are made, we'll open graves with love
There's a walking dead, he's right thereLove is so direct and you're exactly
What I've waited for, there's a ghost
He's ready to slit your throatI didn't get your letters, something is up
I'm having terrible dreams
You'll die it seemsI can't let this happen
I've gotta get to you and stop this madness
He'll walk the plank for his infractions
