Families Cheating at Board Games

Ben Lee

We play our cards close to our chests
Surrounded by our enemy that we know best
Turn it asleep cause the sleep is so light
And all this danger gets bigger at nightThere is secrets to keep
And places not to go
You find out when you need to know
Who can we trust when the truth is as thin
Feels like the con is in
And I want to break free
Cause the world's gone insane
All I see are families cheating at board games
Where is the love and it's such a shame
All I see are families cheating at board gamesWe break vows but the truth is the thing
In the land of the blind with our one eyed king (yeah)
Time stands still for a breaking heart
It doesn't need to be this hardAnd I wanna break free
Cause the world's gone insane
All I see are families cheating at board games
Where is the love and it's such a shame
All I see are families cheating at board games
Break away from what you've known
You are not alone
We can build a brand new home
You are not alone
Break away from what you've known
You are not alone
We can build a brand new home
You are not alone
Break away from what you've known
You are not alone
We can build a brand new home
You are not alone
Break away from what you've known
You are not alone

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/