Living Dead

Barren Cross

Take the book of life, he said, is his name to be read
The angel looked and nodded no, far be it that you should go, go
The throned one said why should I let you in, you told me good bye
The human one said I don't know Im not as bad as my friends belowWhy should I believe what you say
You destroyed your own life anyway
By not choosing, you've made your choice already
People don't make his mistake, you'll be sorryBreak out, the living dead
Break out forever
Break out, the living dead
Break out of them forever, living deadMake the kill between the eyes, the old man say good bye
Shoot the arrow, kill the sin, give birth to life, get born again
Take the road of destiny that leads you past evil's tree
Drop the blade, no suicide can help you find a place to hideWhy should I believe what you say
You destroyed your own life anyway
By not choosing, you've made your choice already
People don't make his mistake, you'll be sorryBreak out, the living dead
Break out forever
Break out, the living dead
Break out of them forever, living deadLook in the sky and tell me what comes to your mind
Look in my eyes, are these the eyes of disguise
The feet they can walk but their eyes cannot see
Their hearts made of lead, it's the living dead, yeahSpin the wheel of chance, what did you win
This is no game show you're starring in Life is but a burning blade of grass
Before you know it earth will be your pastHow can I believe just what you say
You destroyed your own life anyway
Your phone was off the hook, I could not reach you
And your will was not at home, I never met youOh, yeahBreak out, the living dead
Break out forever
Break out, the living dead
Break outGouge the eyes out of a wounded man, good is shout, evil stands
Happiness is now a tale of long ago, the people failed
Meanwhile believers live in Heaven's peace, the master gives
Take the book of life, he said, I don't allow the living deadLiving dead

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/