Striving to Have Nothing

The Duskfall

A man can't foresee it, his own destiny is written
All guessing is useless, just to do what you have to, to get by Another road taken, another bridge is going to fall
Too many dices, thrown for the sake of his own
Explorations ended, opportunities lost along the way
Relationships lying dead
Explorations ended, opportunities lost along the way
Relationships lying dead
Strive - to have nothing done right
To have nothing to live for
To have only existed, and you call it life
Strive - to have nothing done right
Nothing to hang on to
To have only existed, and you call it life
You can't go around it, all our destinies are written
All denying is useless, just another breed wasting their days
A wrong turn taken, another life fading away
Too many rules, made to protect themselves
Explorations ended, opportunities lost along the way
Relationships lying dead
Explorations ended, opportunities lost along the way
Relationships lying dead
Strive - to have nothing done right
To have nothing to live for
To have only existed, and you call it life
Strive - to have nothing done right
Nothing to hang on to
To have only existed, and you call it life
Strive - to have nothing done right
To have nothing to live for
To have only existed, and you call it life
Strive - to have nothing done right
Nothing to hang on to
To have only existed, and you call it life
Strive - to have nothing done right
To have nothing to live for
To have only existed, and you call it life
Strive - to have nothing done right
Nothing to hang on to

To have only existed, and you call it life

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/