L7 (Medication)

Wakefield

Knowing less is worth more than knowing everything
Wish I was ignorant
I'm leaving now, I'll go home and wait for you
To call him instead of me
I'll go home and sleep (sleep) on (on)
It, you wear my clothes to bed
Pretending that you still want me
But I know where I standWhat did he say that I didn't say?
How can I change?
Tell me, how can I change?
Let's move on, this day's too long
Can't you admit you were wrongNext week, I'll still be here waiting
There's no place for complaining
Shut up now, just hear me out
When you make out with him I feel left out
(I feel left out! Yoooooww!)What did he say that I didn't say?
How can I change?
Tell me, how can I change?
Let's move on, this day's too long
Can't you admit you were wrongWhat did he say that I didn't say?
How can I change?
Tell me, how can I change?
Let's move on, this day's too long
Why can't you admit you were wrongIs it wrong to blame it on (Yeaaah, oh Yeaaah)
All the medication I was on
Is it wrong to blame it on (Yeaaah, oh Yeaaah)
All the medication I was on
Is it wrong to blame it on (Yeaaah, oh Yeaaah)
All the medication I was on
Is it wrong to blame it on (Yeaaah, oh Yeaaah)
All the medication I was onKnowing less is worth more than knowing everything
(Ooo-ah!)
What did he say that I didn't say?
How can I change?
Tell me, how can I change?
Let's move on, this day's too long
Why can't you admit you were wrongWhat did he say that I didn't say?
How can I change?
Tell me, how can I change?
