Don't Look Back

Strung Out

Before you say a word
Before you turn away
There's just one thing I gotta know
Are you still who you claim to be?Yeah, I've been told we're all the same
Only difference is in the people that you wearGrowing up I thought I'd never change
No apologies, always stayed the same
Now I don't look backIdeals and blind devotion
Kiss loyalties goodbye
And it's growing what's inside that counts
Twisted, true and without a doubtI've been told we're all the same
Waiting for something that already came
Well, mind of confusion with no one
To blame just waitingBehind, locked inside your emotions
Caging, releasing it feeds your motives
Growing, changing is something you don't know
Makes you feel you're losing groundGrowing up I thought I'd never change
No apologies, always stayed the same
No, I'll never look back
