

Million Miles an Hour

Nickelback

Take one of those and two of these
Then watch the walls begin to breathe
I can taste the color of the lights
Wings are growing out of me
The floor is floating under me
I can see the future burning bright

Is it burning bright?

The ceiling has us mesmerized
It feels like we could never die
Heading for the dark side of the moon
As we lift off into the sky
Invincible and so alive
Ten feet tall and fucking bulletproof

Insanity is setting in
Reality is getting thin
The universe just started slowing down
And suddenly we're travelling
A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
We're going a million miles an hour
A million miles an hour

When shadows soon start breaking free
No longer held by gravity
When we get so far from the ground
Sneak into the galaxy
Received and Sending back to me
I can finally hear the speed of sound

The speed of fucking sound

I like this everlasting pill
'Cause time itself is standing still
Why's the room still spinning just the same?
Turn off your phone so no one calls
'Cause you and I are tripping balls

I can still hear ringing in my brain

Insanity is setting in
Reality is getting thin
See no signs of ever coming down
And suddenly we're travelling
A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
We're going a million miles an hour
A million miles an hour

Insanity is setting in
Reality is getting thin
Lot of clues are dancing all around
I can't deny the hardest thing for me
Is finding time to finally breath
Ain't no signs of ever coming down
Another wave is coming in

A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
We're going a million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour
A million miles an hour

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>