Death Adder

West View

Turn your back on everyone
That tried to help you up
Burned your bridges, and since you've caught fire
There's no one left to put you out

And you might think
That You know who you are
But you are nothing to me

Pick up the pieces
Of your degradation
Hold a shard in your grip

Your broken mind
And our shattered love
Even if your skin caught the dagger
You wouldn't feel it at all

Darkness no longer engulfing my existence
I can feel free to let go
Take your cold dead hands
And turn them on your throat

Try to feel some pain
It makes you human

Bathe in the bloodshed
Of everyone you love
Bathe in the bloodshed
You know your place is fucking 6 ft beneath the ground

Beneath the ground

You will feel the burden of death

And I'm not who I once was
But you'll never see that from me
I hope more pain awaits you
From loving arms You're too numb to feel

Now you have these scars
If you try to escape this
The sutures will open up

I want to watch you bleed
I want to watch you
Suffer as much as me
