

This Sacrament

Nevermore

There's no control in the world today, and there's still no order to this game we all play

Maybe none of us know what's real

There's no constraint when the walls cave in, the neuron turn on, the game begins to fade away

Maybe none of us know, maybe none of us want to hear, never push against the flow aimlessly

Feel the flow and let all thought fade, we shall be one

For this sacrament has begun

Lucy in the sky with diamond eyes, long since dark, I wear her disguise of light

Maybe none of us know, maybe none of us want to hear, never push against the flow aimlessly

Feel the flow and let all thought fade, we shall be one

For this sacrament has begun

This sacrament is a state of mind

There's no control in the world today, and there's still no order to this game we all play called life

Maybe none of us know, maybe none of us want to hear, never push against the flow aimlessly

Feel the flow and let all thought fade, we shall be one

Through this sacrament

Feel the flow and let all thought fade, we shall be one

For this sacrament has begun, this sacrament has begun

To become one with the flow is to realize purpose

To realize purpose is to become one with the flow

Become one with the flow, become one with the flow

This sacrament has begun

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>