Stronger Now

Marco V

I held you for a moment in my hands
The moment with you slipped away like sand through my fingers now
In front of me a choice I have to make
To carry on or simply fade away, I lose you either wayI'd like to say that it was easy, it was hard
To say goodbye, I thought that I would dieLetting go of you, was so hard to do
And I thought that it would kill me
But I made it through somehow
And I'm so much stronger nowI gave to you my love and my respect
But I could never make you love me back, I denied it so
I grew bitter watching you grow cold
My life became your prison, took it's tollI decided like a bird that's trapped inside a gilded cage
It's right to set it free, hurts to watch it fly awayLetting go of you, was so hard to do
And I thought that it would kill me
But I made it through somehow
And I'm so much stronger now, so much stronger nowLetting go of you, was so hard to do
And I thought that it would kill me
But I made it through somehow
And I'm so much stronger now
Oh I'm so much stronger now
Yes I'm so much stronger now
