

One

Poppy Brothers

i keep a secret from you every day no one can know the things i want to say i want to tell you about this feeling that is killing me i try to hide it but you shine the brightest light on me ill be your one i see you keeping other boys at bay they try to chase you but you get away but youre done running its no fun when you play games with fools theyre just kids dont fall for it because im falling for you
