

No One Will Ever Love You

The Magnetic Fields

If you don't mind
Why don't you mind
Where is your sense of indignation
You are too kind, much too kind Where is the madness
That you promised me?
Where is the dream for
Which I paid dearly? When things go wrong, I sing along
It is the nature of the business
But you're not here
To make my sad songs more sincere No one will ever love you honestly
No one will ever love you for your honesty
No one will ever love you honestly
No one will ever love you for your honesty
