Chely Wright

Fire and rain is my favorite song
I say a prayer at 11:11
I could watch old movies all night long
I'm not sure about Hell but I know there's a Heaven
Sometimes I feel so alone it scares me
I talk in my sleep but there's no one to hear me Oh no, I don't wanna be unknown
The little things that make me, who I am
I need to share, I need to know that someone cares
That I drink coffee black, that I sing when I drive
That I sleep with the TV on, more than anything
I don't wanna be unknown I love September when leaves turn gold
I get nervous in crowded places
Someday I wanna see San Francisco
I'm bad with names, but remember faces
I need more than a kiss, more than a lover
I'm a world that's just waiting to be discovered Oh no, I don't wanna be unknown
The little things that make me, who I am
I need to share, I need to know that someone cares
That I write down my dreams, that I love when it rains
I burn candles when I'm alone, more than anything
I don't wanna be unknown More than anything
No one wants to be unknown
