

Radio Breaks

Modern Skirts

When the radio breaks, when the static feels right
Tear the city up street by street, dont sleep keep up all night
When the radio breaks, when the static feels right Just the other day I went down to the end of the street, my friend
In the wrong direction and I thought my night would never end
I saw it all When the numbers read right
Build the city up beat by beat, these streets stay up all night
When the lottery pays, when the numbers read right
Tear the city up street by street, dont sleep, keep up all night
When the lottery pays, when the numbers read right Just in case you miss me, Im leaving my bills for you to pay
I will love you dearly for breaking the bank for me each day
I love you all I love you all
