

Drama!

Erasure

One rule for us, for you another
Do unto yourself as you see fit for your brother
Is that not within your realm of understanding
A fifty second capacity of mind, too demanding
Poor unfortunate you, there are a,
Myriad of things that you can do, like,
Pick up a pen and paper, go talk to a friend
The history of the future, revenge
Your shame is never ending
Just one psychological drama after another
You are guilty, how you ever entered into this life?
God only knows the infinite complexities of love
We all have the ability
Our freedom is fragile
We all laugh and we cry, don't we?
We all bleed and we smile
Your shame is never ending
Just one psychological drama after another
You are guilty, how you ever entered into this life?
God only knows, you're not to sacrifice the art of love
Your shame is never ending
Just one psychological drama after another
We are guilty, how we ever entered into this life?
God only knows, the infinite complexities of love
We are guilty, how we ever entered into this life?
God only knows, we're not to sacrifice the art of love
We are guilty, how we ever entered into this life?
God only knows, the infinite complexities of love
We are guilty, how we ever entered into this life?
The lord only knows, the ultimate necessity of love

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>