Don't Look Down

Threshold

Donâ€™t look down
Donâ€™t look down
Donâ€™t look down
Donâ€™t look down
Itâ€™s time to shine!

You have spent your life confessing what was wrong inside
They left you second guessing how to close your mind
So you cry for redemption from all you thought
Until you wake up tomorrow just the way you were before

So what are you waiting for?
Your feet never leave the floor

Youâ€™re running round in circles like a tethered mare
But there is no exertion that will get you there
So you cry for exemption from all youâ€™ve done
And try to shake off the sorrow over all that youâ€™ve become

So what are you waiting for?
Your feet never leave the floor

We are looking out for a leader to believe in
For a watcher of the sky
Donâ€™t want a pretender to deceive us
Or a demon in disguise
So if you can live through the shadow of our eyes
Weâ€™ll come to receive you because we need to
In a world that is born to fly

Hesitation has a strong design
But every good intention slowly fades with time
But you force hibernation is no retort
Because you wake up tomorrow just the way you were before

So what are you waiting for?
Your feet never leave the floor

We are looking out for a leader to believe in
For a watcher of the sky

Or a demon in disguise
So if you can live through the shadow of our eyes
Weâ€™ll come to receive you because we need to
In a world that is born to fly

In a world watch it fly

Staring at the endless sky longing for the clouds to take you
Looking for a promised time hoping that it wonâ€™t forsaken you
Thereâ€™s nothing you can do about the wasted years
The battle brought the mettle that makes you
You donâ€™t need an angel to carry you here
And you donâ€™t need a devil to break you

When all your reason and reference are taken away
And you believe in the perception that something must change
When all your credence and candour are put in their place
Youâ€™ll find the boldness to abandon the future you face

Donâ€™t look down
Donâ€™t look down
Donâ€™t look down
Donâ€™t look down
Itâ€™s time to shine!

So what are you waiting for?
Your feet never leave the floor

We are looking out for a leader to believe in
For a watcher of the sky
Donâ€™t want a pretender to deceive us
Or a demon in disguise
So if you can live through the shadow of our eyes
Weâ€™ll come to receive you because we need to
In a world that is born to fly

Donâ€™t look down
Itâ€™s time to shine!
