Heaven

Lovelife

Someday, I will be something to believe in
A little faith, a little feeling
Have it all, have it all
Somehow, I'll get myself out of this town
I close my eyes and I'm there now
Have it all, have it allI remember when I was standing at the top of the world
And I was flying to the sun, you were watching me burn
And as I fell from the sky that was right about when
I said to you, you're never gonna see me againAnd when I thought I saw heaven I found myself in hell
Lost alone, so far from home
And when I tried to say something I bit my tongue instead
Now the king is dead, fell from his throneGo back to New York CitySpeechless, I was so lost I couldn't see clear
I don't know how I ended up here
Lost it all, lost it all, now I'm breathless
I didn't want, I didn't need this
I tried to feel but I was heartless
Lost it all, lost it allI remember when I was standing at the top of the world
And I was flying to the sun, you were watching me burn
And as I fell from the sky that was right about when
I said to you, you're never gonna see me againAnd when I thought I saw heaven I found myself in hell
Lost alone, so far from home
And when I tried to say something I bit my tongue instead
Now the king is dead, fell from his throneGo back to New York City
Go back to New York City
Go back to New York City
Go back to New York CityI remember once I was hanging onto life by a thread
And though I made a cry for help, no one heard what I said
And as I picked myself up, that was right about when You turned to me and said, I knew that I would see you againAnd when I thought I saw heaven I found myself in hell
Lost alone, so far from home
And when I tried to say something I bit my tongue instead
Now the king is dead, fell from his throne

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/