

Wonderful Unknown (feat. Greg Laswell)

Ingrid Michaelson

Oh, let me wear your overcoat,
My bones are super chill and all the ponies have gone home
Oh, walking through Manhattan
With the ache from last night's smile still smarting up from my toes
Here we go, dancing on our own,
Inside this house that we have never known, never known
Here we go, going in alone
Into the dark and wonderful unknown,
Let us go, let us go
Oh, we make bread on Sundays
And the little ones are climbing up the walls, up the walls
Oh, nothing lasts forever
But the sound of love astounds me every time that it calls
Here we go, dancing on our own,
Inside this house that we have never known, never known,
Here we go, going it alone
Into the dark and wonderful unknown, let us go, let us go
In the best way, you'll be the death of me
In the best way, you'll be the death of me
In the best way, you'll be the death of me
In the best way
Oh, got your father's wristwatch on,
The one your mother gave him when they thought the world won't end,
Oh, we will be there one day with a smile
And nothing more to say goodbye to a friend
Here we go, dancing on our own,
Inside this house that we have never known, never known
Here we go, going it alone,
Into the dark and wonderful unknown, let us go let us go
Here we go, dancing on our own,
Inside this house that we have never known, never known
Here we go, going it alone,
Into the dark and wonderful unknown, let us go, let us go
In the best way you'll be the death of me
In the best way you'll be the death of me
In the best way you'll be the death of me
In the best way you'll be the death of me
In the best way you'll be the death of me
In the best way you'll be the death of me
In the best way you'll be the death of me
