Letting Go

Trust Company

I hear your voice
It sounds like silence in between
The slow motion movie scene
I try to make you see
With every failed attempt in vein
It brings the clouds, presages the rainAnd did you know that letting go
Is sometimes easier than holding on?
Did you know that letting go
Can light the way back home?
You didn't even notice me
You didn't even notice meI hear your voice
With every word you said to me
'Cause you're my greatest injury
I try to make you see
With every failed attempt in vein
It brings the clouds, presages the rainDid you know that letting go
Is sometimes easier than holding on?
Did you know that letting go
Can light the way back home?
You didn't even notice me
You didn't even notice meWe find such beauty in our scars
Because they made us who we are
This is my last thought for you, for you, for you
And you waited far too long for thisAnd did you know that letting go
Is sometimes easier than holding on?
Did you know that letting go
Can light the way back home?
You didn't even notice me
You didn't even notice me at allYou didn't even notice
This light you're letting go

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/