Glow World

Bill Nelson

Her jewels are the stars tonight,
I watch as her thieves arrive,
I watch them with jealous eyes
From my window this world is aglow

She drifts in an endless curve
Through shadows and metaphor
Body signal and semaphore
From my window their eyes are aglow

She laughs as the pains begin
I swoon in the grip of sin
Alone with her burning skin
For a moment, this room is aglow

She sleeps in my arms tonight,
I watch as her dreams arrive,
I watch her with hungry eyes,
In my mirror, her face is aglow
Glow world
Glow world
