Fly

CoCo and The Butterfields

I forgot what this feels like so pinch me and maybe I'll fly (unless I fall for you)
You're running around and about, I'm keeping my eyes (fixed on you)
You're holding your head up whilst I'm selling out (and shifting my frown)
The answer is lost to give him the truth to four down
My car's being fixed and you're mending your shoes, what's there to give when there's nothing to lose?
Everyone knows, except for you, you yourselfI'll toss and I'll turn and I will use all my might
I'm storing your nightmare so you can sleep at night
I'll fix and I'll win, and I'll prove to you I can fight
I forgot what this feels like so pinch me and maybe I'll flyMaybe I'll flyIn the middle of real life there's a song that everyone plays (singing their songs for you)
How can you be accused if you weren't amazed? (singing their songs for you)
You're bussing home now whilst I'm taking a walk
And I would smile forever if that's what you thought
I'm buying a ticket in an effort to fly, I'm still on the ground although I may try Everyone knows it, except for you, you yourselfI'll toss and I'll turn and I will use all my might
I'm storing your nightmares so you can sleep at night
I'll fix and I'll win, and I'll prove to you I can fight
I forgot what this feels like so pinch me and maybe I'll flyMaybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll flyThere's always the park with the swings where you cried
There's always the chance that you'll run inside
I'm sure I'll forget to receive a reply
Why would you tell the truth if you lied?I'll toss and I'll turn and I will use all my might
I'm storing your nightmares so you can sleep at night
I'll fix and I'll win, and I'll prove to you I can fight
I forgot what this feels like so pinch me and maybe I'll flyMaybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll flyMaybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll fly
Maybe I'll fly

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/