Scream Out Loud

And tonight we lay with our hands holding tighter than before
And i would dream of you even when my eyes were open

But that day is gone never will it come back
I've given up that dream a long time ago
I'm moving forward but i'm still looking back
I should have seen this from the start

I won't forget this i'll make it a lesson instead
I know that it's learning but it won't stop hurtingÂ
It's all inside my head

You must think that i am wrapped around your finger
But i know you're just to caught up in yourself

To realize what you've becomeÂ
Because i know there's a hole inside you're heart
That keeps yourself from letting go
Of what we had so long ago

I won't forget this i'll make it a lesson instead
I know that it's learning but it won't stop hurting
It's all inside my head
Oh my God i can feel all the weight of the world rising from me
Something tells me i'll never feel this way again

I'll push this out of my way I won't look back
I'll never go down this way again

I know
I never should've given you my heart

I won't forget this i'll make it a lesson instead
I know that it's learning but it won't stop hurting
It's all inside my head
Oh my God i can feel all the weight of the world rising from me
Something tells me i'll never feel this way again
