

Mindfuck

Years Since the Storm

I know the pain isn't real, but I'm way too, way too scarred to heal.
And there's a fire burning at my heels, but I'm way too, way too fucking cold to feel.

TOO COLD TO FEEL!

Fearing this feeling of instability.

Something wicked is growing inside of me.

Trying my best to avoid a catastrophe.

Demons in my head, but I won't go willingly.

And I can feel my heartbeat racing.

My veins are about to burst.

I look in the mirror to see my own worst enemy.

MY ENEMY IS ME!

Sometimes I feel like a broken man.

There are times when I'm not sure how much more I can stand.

All my childhood left alone, an exiled mind is all I know.

Don't try to take me, don't try to change me.

I feel a darkness growing every day.

Don't try to bend me, don't try to break me.

I'm already broken.

Always finding new ways to destroy myself.

It's the only thing I know, I have nothing else.

I can't feel anything anymore.

My reality is far from yours.

Bleeding distress, my thoughts are my temptress.

I don't give a shit if the thoughts I think are logical.

I just wanna lose my fucking mind, 'cause I'm broken inside.

I'm a stranger to myself and you're all strangers to me.

Don't try to take me, don't try to change me.

I feel a darkness growing every day.

Don't try to bend me, don't try to break me.

I'm already broken.

I DON'

T HAVE TO SLEEP WITH THE DEVIL TO WAKE UP IN HELL.

I know the pain isn't real, but I'm way too, way too scarred to heal.
And there's a fire burning at my heels, but I'm way too fucking cold to feel!

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>