True Widow

I've done so many things with my time, or so I think.
But I'm young and I can't tell if what I've done is ending well.
Caved in my things for you, and what was left would never do.
I care. I know I do. Because, wouldn't I burn if it wasn't true?

I can't sleep.

I've tried elixirs too. Dulled it out but still I knew.
Dumbed down the things I want, only to find it getting worse.
Waist deep -- a cables tow. Coming out slow if out at all.
Duck down until I see the one I know come straight to me.

I can't sleep.
