Miss You

Killing Heidi

I'm stranded in the vacant air,
my energy is all used up,
pretending I don't care.
The distance is a well between,
a signal interpreted,
can't say what I really mean.
Sense suffocation everyday,
I share your breath from far away, away.
This time you should know that
I miss You.
Don't walk away.
If only I could find the words,
and finally say what I meant to say
This time you should know that
I miss You.
Don't walk away.
If only I could find the words,
and finally say what I meant to say
Another perfect empty road, too much time to sit and think of what I'd rather do, with you.
Wasted time, I'd fill my head with anything to keep you from my mind, this time
Reread the books that I have read, replayed the things I never said.
This time you should know that
I miss You.
Don't walk away.
If only I could find the words,
and finally say what I meant to say

This time you should know that
I miss You.
Don't walk away.
If only I could find the words,
and finally say what I meant to say
What I meant to....
Trip, trip, tripping through the hallway,
rooms filled with empty chairs.
I slip, slip, slip in through your doorway,
numb me with vacant stares.

I creep, creep, I know that you can hear me.
So why don't you let me in tonight?
Night?
I'm stuck inside an empty page.
Head in hands and heart in mouth,
got no words to say.
One more day.
The photo smiles but that's not me, so I just look away, again.
This time you should know that
I miss You.
Don't walk away.
If only I could find the words,
and finally say what I meant to say
This time you should know that
I miss You.
Don't walk away.
One day I will find the words,
I'll finally say what I meant to say, what I meant to Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/