

Pursuit Of Happiness

VJ Adams

Everybody is on the pursuit of happiness cos the pursuit of happiness is an endless journey. It took me some time to realize that succeeding is way important than winning. So am here before you as a man whose pursuit of happiness. Look, I want to tell you how much I care cos I don't know what might just happen next. But I might be very busy to honour or reply your text. I hope you experience true happiness and experience genuine love and compassion from deep within cos it took me some time to know what it really means to experience true happiness. I remember the other day I was having a chat with my mom and she ask me what makes you happy? And I replied immediately like I had an answer saying what ever makes you happy but I really didn't have an answer to the question. So am here before you asking you the same question. What makes you happy? Look I mean this goes beyond been famous, selling records, succeeding and all of that stuff I mean what really makes you happy?
