

Mermaid Submarine

Echo Orbiter

Fell off a raft one day; sink down
Opened his eyes and saw her face
Though clear she appeared through translucent gaze

Sits on the riverbank, looking Hands clasped between his knees, hoping
To catch a glance and see if she exists out of mind

Forever she will stay
In a place where people can't play
She thinks of them in the blue
He thinks about it too
It's all they can do

Blue as the air, hoping Beneath all the water's glare, she is
He wants to see him again; as does she
