

George Jones And Jesus

Lance Miller

George Jones and Jesus are two heros of mine.

One is only human but the other one divine.

When I could not find a friend I found out that I had two.

George Jones and Jesus pulled me through. When a man is on the bottom he may not cry for help.

But he needs to know he's not alone in hell all by himself.

Those songs old George was singing they some how eased the hurt.

And Jesus did not turn me out when a bar room was my church. George Jones and Jesus are two hero's of mine.

One is only human but the other one divine.

When I could not find a friend I found out that I had two.

George Jones and Jesus pulled me through. The possum ain't no savior, but he never claimed to be.

And Jesus hung out with a crowd of trouble souls just liked me.

Now you can't find a George Jones classic, in a big black book of hymns.

Oh but I'm living proof that Jesus saves in a smoky place like this. George Jones and Jesus are two hero's of mine.

One is only human but the other one divine.

When I could not find a friend I found out that I had two.

George Jones and Jesus pulled me through. George Jones and Jesus

Songwriters

MILLER, LANCE/CUNNINGHAM, AUSTIN Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>