

All Ships

Sakia

I dream of endless days
While you run your last race
Any day by now. Any day by now.
Our horizon view has never been so cruel
Any day by now. Any day by now.

How can we hear and see one another
When you're sailing away with your sisters and brothers.
You are my hope, my horizon, my anchor
Would you give a promise:

I'll see you, I'll hear you, and you are there when
Those ships too, in the blue, will once appear

When will the ships return? I look but can't discern
Any day by now. Any day by now.

How can we hear and see one another
When you're sailing away with your sisters and brothers.
You are my hope, my horizon, my anchor
Would you give a promise:

I'll see you, I'll hear you, and you are there when
Those ships too, in the blue, will once appear (x3)

When all the ships come to the shore
