How Long

Allison Crowe

It took me so long to understand
Who I needed to be for myself
And it took me too long to realize
That I didn't need anybody else
So now I'm sitting here in silence
And all I can feel is regret
And it seems to be so easy for you now
But its not so easy for me to forget

How long do I have to wait here?
You leave me standing in the cold
How long will it take you to remember
While you're still alive and growing old
I'm the only one who cares about you

So roll me over
Shut me out
If that's what you feel possessed to do
Whatever helps to get you through the night
Yeah it may kill me
But I'll still love you

How long do I have to wait here
You leave me standing in the cold
How long will it take you to remember
While you're still alive and growing old
I'm the only one who cares about you

I am
I am the only one
I am
I am

How long do I have to wait here
You leave me standing in the cold
How long will it take you to remember
While you're still alive and growing old
I'm the only one, I am the only one
I am

You leave me standing in the cold
How long will it take for you to realize
That I am gone?
