

Gran Torino

Jamie Cullum

So tenderly
Your story is Nothing more
Than what you see
Or
What you've done
Or will become
Standing strong
Do you belong
In your skin
Just wonderingGentle now
The tender breeze
Blows
Whispers through
My Gran Torino
Whistling another
Tired songEngine hums
And bitter dreams
Grow
Heart locked
In a Gran Torino
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night long
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night long
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night longRealign all
The stars
Above my head
Warning signs
Travel far
I drink instead
On my own
Oh, how I've known
The battle scars
And worn out bedsGentle now

A tender breeze
Blows
Whispers through
A Gran Torino
Whistling another
Tired songEngines hum
And bitter dreams
Grow
Heart locked
In a Gran Torino
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night longThese streets
Are old
They shine
With the things
I've known
And breaks
Through
The trees
Their sparklingYour world
Is nothing more
Than all
The tiny things
You've left
BehindSo tenderly
Your story is
Nothing more
Than what you see
Or
What you've done
Or will become
Standing strong
Do you belong
In your skin
A tender breeze
Blows
Whispers through
The Gran Torino
Whistling another
Tired song
Engines hum
And bitter dreams
Grow

A heart locked
In a Gran Torino
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night long May I be
So bold and stay
I need someone
To hold
That shudders
My skin
Their sparkling Your world
Is nothing more
Than all
The tiny things
You've left
Behind So realign
All the stars
Warning signs
Travel far
I drink instead
On my own
Oh
How I've known
The battle scars
And worn out beds Gentle now
A tender breeze
Blows
Whispers through
The Gran Torino
Whistling another
Tired song
Engines hum
And better dreams
Grow
Heart locked
In a Gran Torino
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night long
It beats
A lonely rhythm
All night long
It beats
A lonely rhythm

All night long
