Half Life

Absentstar

If youve given up, would help you out if you could know
That theres more in store if you look the other way
If you get it all, would you ever hope for something more?
Would it make you whole with half a life ahead?Before you give it away, you gotta take a little back
And find another way
Before you go it alone, you gotta learn to let to let it go
Face another dayIf it's getting old, are you better off here than before?
If you cant ignore when you look the other way
So just let it go, take a look around and you will know
That theres something more, when theres half a life aheadBefore you give it away, you gotta take a little back
And find another way
Before you go it alone, you gotta learn to let to let it go
Face another dayEven after all thats said and done you worry
Even those the odds look good you still look down
Even after all thats said and done you worry
Even those the odds look good you still look downBefore you give it away, take it back
Before you give it away, take it back
Before you give it away, take it back
Before you give it away, take it back

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/