

Made A Mistake

Sugarcult

I, I can't get enough
This means way too much
I will never, I can never
I won't ever
Stop pushing me around
Open up the ground
Will you ever, can you ever see?
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You did and should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You should've left me dead
Crushed, painful as it sounds
Motors tightly wound
Pull the covers, pull my covers
To uncover lust
Deadly when she frowns
Silent in the crowd
Will she ever, can she ever see?
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You did and should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You should've left me dead
I can hardly stand that you aren't mine
I can hardly stand that you aren't mine
I can hardly stand this, try to understand it
Gave you all I had when you were mine
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You did and should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You should've left me, should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You did and should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
You did and should've left me dead
You've made a mistake, made a mistake
(I could never, trust another)

You should've left me dead
(I could never, trust another)
You should've left me dead
(I could never, trust another)
You should've left me dead
(I could never)
