

Love Her All I Can

Anthrax

(written by Paul Stanley), originally performed by KISS
I remember the times I was lonely without her
Now she's mine and I spend my times dreamin' about her

Love her all I can and try to understand
The things that make her glad
The things that make her sad
I'm a lucky guy, I hardly ever cry
And when the world looks bad

She's never ever sad
She's so easy to please and it doesn't take money, no, no
We can have a good time when the skies aren't sunny
Ah, I love her all I can and try to understand

The things that make her glad
The things that make her sad
I'm a lucky guy, I hardly ever cry
And when the world looks bad
She's never ever sad

Who
I remember the times I was lonely without her
Now she's mine and I spend my time dreamin' about her
I love her all I can and try to understand

The things that make her glad
The things that make her sad
I'm a lucky guy, I hardly ever cry
And when the world looks bad
She's never ever sad
