

Eyes Open Wide

Pulley

I wake, it's empty, my nights are alone
The cold sweats will stay here for hours and hours
My mind, it grows weak
No rest that I'm getting, I can't sleep Tomorrow's here, a new day is rising
I've seen it before
The sun won't make things any brighter no more
I don't want, wanna keep going on like this Like this is for sure, look through the window
The clouds, they look back
Reflections all pass by the moments I've lapsed
I'm tied down to nothing and I still can't think There's another night to fear
No sleep for days, no pills to take
All the sheep that I've counted
And I'm still awake, close my eyes This time it's for sure, eyes open
Eyes open wide again
What can I do when tomorrow is through
And another hour keeps pushing me on back
