Lull

Andrew Bird

Being alone it can be quite romantic

Like Jacques Cousteau underneath the Atlantic

A fantastic voyage to parts unknown

Going to depths were the sun's never shown

And I fascinate myself when I'm all aloneSo I go a little overboard but hang onto the hull While I'm airbrushing fantasy art on a life that's really kinda dullOh, I'm in a lull

Oh, I'm in a lullI'm all for moderation but sometimes it seems

Moderation itself can be a kind of extreme

So I join the congregation, I join the softball team

I went in for my conformation where incense looks like steamI start conjugating proverbs where there once were nouns

This whole damn rhyme scheme's starting to get me downOh, I'm in a lull

Oh, I'm in a lull

Oh, I'm in a lullBeing alone it can be quite romantic

Like Jacques Cousteau underneath the Atlantic

Going to depths were the sun's never shown

And I fascinate myself, sure I do, when I'm aloneI'm rambling on rather self-consciously

While I'm stirring these condiments into my tea

And I think I'm so lame, I bet I'll think this song is about me

Don't I, don't I, don't I?I'm, I'm in a lull

Oh, I'm in a lull

Oh, I'm in a lull

Oh, I'm in a lull
